

SING-LLOYD

INSPIRING SUSTAINABILITY

ABOUT

SING-LLOYD was established in 2005 as an independent third party surveying company. Through the impressive credentials achieved in serving the maritime and oil & gas industries, Sing-Lloyd was soon accepted as an Recognised Organisation and Recognised Security Organisation and fully complies with the International Maritime Organisation (IMO) Resolutions A789(19) and A739(18)

Sing-Lloyd is headquartered in Singapore. At now Sing-Lloyd has an authorization from the various governments such as Sierra Leone, Cook Islands and Mongolia who are signatories to the IMO Conventions in order to act on their behalf for the statutory surveys and issuance of statutory certificates.

The TEAM

Highly qualified personnel and a global network of offices enable Sing-Lloyd to provide prompt and reliable services worldwide:

- design technical appraisal, survey and issue of documents, certificates and reports to ships and offshore installations as well as to ship machinery, equipment, arrangements, products, outfit and materials, refrigerating plants, cargo handling gear, containers;
- survey for compliance with the requirements of international conventions and issue of relevant certificates and other documents on behalf of governments of the states - parties to the international conventions;
- certification of safety and security management systems of shipping companies and ships for compliance with the International Management Code for Safe Operation of Ships and for Pollution Prevention and International Ship and Port Security.
- cooperation with Maritime Administrations and Port to enhance the safety, security and the pollution prevention of the ships.
- Ensuring best results in terms of the efficiency of terminal operations in such areas as: economics, environmental and social. This will help to draw the attention of the community, investors, and customers, and make the public aware of unique experience.

All the Sing-Lloyd activities ensure high standard of achievement and is widely accepted in the world maritime community.

Sing-Lloyd is able to provide a full suite of services that will be able to help the ship owners, ship managers and other industries players in achieving their goals. Our expertise and services are divided to the various categories, namely

1. Ship Classification and Statutory Services
2. Ship and Port Security Services
3. Yachtsmen's certifications
4. Consultancy Services

The classification and certification of ships has been the "core business" of Sing-Lloyd since the inception of the class.

Since then, Sing-Lloyd has constantly developed technical partnerships in the shipping sector.

These include technological support during the design stage, construction surveillance, project management and technical assistance during building and the maintenance of the ships. The primary objective is to help ship owners and ship managers achieve elevated standards of quality and safety for their prized assets.

Nearly all flag states delegate statutory surveys to selected recognised classification societies. With this authorization given by flag state administrations, these classification societies act on behalf of the flag state in the survey and issuance of statutory certificates. Sing-Lloyd is also one of the classification societies tasked to perform this certification duty.

Using our wide network of representative offices round the world, Sing-Lloyd is able to establish regular contact with flag state administrations and extends our services to them. We offer technical expertise on classification and statutory areas to flag state administrations to convince the flag state administrations to delegate statutory services to Sing-Lloyd. Our range of activities for classification also covers:

- Survey and registration of ships, marine and offshore structures during construction
- Survey and registration of ship installations, machinery and appliances
- Survey and inspection of ships, marine and offshore structures, oil and gas related installations in service for the maintenance of class and international standards.
- Inspection and type approval of materials and equipment
- Approval of service providers, manufacturers and manufacturing procedures and processes.
- Testing of material and equipment in accordance to marine international standards.

Sing-Lloyd is able to provide a full suite of services that will be able to help the ship owners, ship managers and other industries players in achieving their goals. Our expertise and services are divided to the various categories, namely

1. Ship Classification and Statutory Services
2. Ship and Port Security Services
3. Yachtsmen's certifications
4. Consultancy Services

Sing-Lloyd provides customized Risk and Security; Consultancy, Products and Services across various Land & Maritime industries (including Oil and Gas).

Our team of specialists can assess risks on Facilities / Installations / Vessels from your projects conception through each stage until completion. We can also assist to implement our findings and/or security at existing locations / assets or on new projects. Our network of Professional Consultants, a collective of specialist Military and Government personnel (Land and Maritime), are ready to be deployed at a moment's notice.

Since the ISPS Code became mandatory in 2004, our Consultants have been at the forefront of the implementation process formulating Port and Ship Security Assessments, developing and implementing Security Plans and delivering accredited training courses with classification societies and clients.

The requirement for Risk and Security became more evident due to a marked increase in piracy and the continued threat of terrorism. Shipping companies need to safeguard their assets. Risk Assessments made in advance of a project and, if required, security measures or personnel put in place during the project can produce considerable financial savings in the long term.

Sing-Lloyd's alliance's extensive experience in Risk and Security Management allows for its ease in identifying individual clients' requirements and producing a suitable solution ensuring absolute customer satisfaction and, above all, peace of mind.

Sing-Lloyd is able to provide a full suite of services that will be able to help the ship owners, ship managers and other industries players in achieving their goals. Our expertise and services are divided to the various categories, namely

SING-LLOYD is happy to announce that it starts to perform evaluation of qualification and competency of yachtsmen.

At the present stage, SING-LLOYD does not provide training in yachting classes and onboard yachts for sailing practice. However, the yachtsman can be assessed, and based on positive assessment results, a Certificate of Competency will be issued, stating that the yachtsman is found to be duly qualified and competent to perform the relevant capacities on board sailing or motor private pleasure yachts up to 24 meters long, used exclusively for non-commercial purposes and engaged in international trading, subject to any limitations reasonably applied.

The following persons can apply to SING-LLOYD for certification:

- Persons who have passed classes and/or training onboard sailing and motor yacht provided by the yachting schools approved by SING-LLOYD. The school approval may be done on a permanent or case-by-case basis;
- Persons who have yachtsman's certificates of competency (valid or expired certificates) issued by other competent organizations and/or flag authorities;
- Persons who have valid yachtsman's certificates of competency issued by any organization and who wish to upgrade their Certificates of Competency by submitting evidence of advanced training, additional seetime, extension of the sailing area, acquisition of additional skills;
- Persons who have or previously had the professional STCW Certificate of Competency of master or navigational officer issued by any flag state, the member of STCW;
- Persons who can produce objective evidence of their yacht sailing practice and getting basic skills (like a logbook, master's reference letter, crew lists, and other supporting documents).

The SING-LLOYD designated officers will evaluate the competency of the applicant at their discretion, based on different forms of evidence of qualification and experience, including perusal of the applicant's supporting documents, online exams, and interviewing, etc.

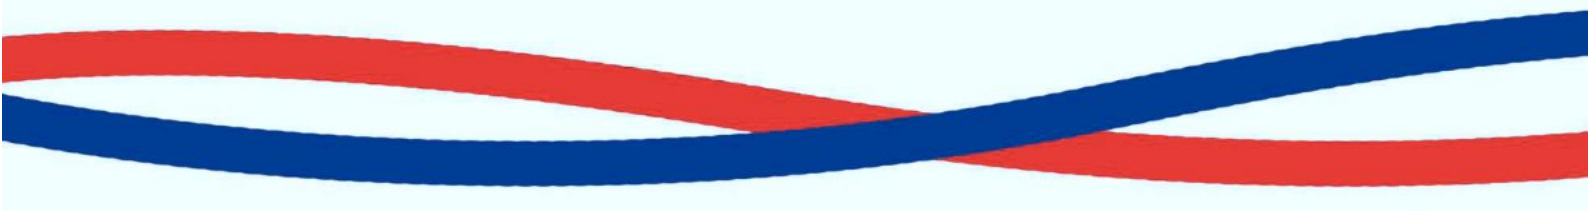

The yachtsmen's certificates can be issued in paper form or only in electronic form. The electronic certificate is an electronic copy of the certificate in PDF format and has the same validity as the paper original.
